From the moment God sent you to us as a gift amidst the quiet chill of that December snow, you have been the greatest blessing of our lives.

Watching you grow has been a masterclass in grace and grit. Whether you were pushing yourself in the classroom, giving your all on the field, or simply being the heart of our family adventures, your perseverance has always shone through. You don't just face challenges; you overcome them with a spirit that inspires everyone around you.

As you step into the next chapter, UT Dallas is gaining so much more than just a student — they are welcoming a powerhouse who is destined to thrive in the world of Engineering.

While our home will feel a little quieter and our family will miss your presence every day, we are bursting with pride. Go forth, embrace every moment of your college journey, and know that we are already cheering for the future engineer you are becoming.

With all our love,

Dad, Mom, and Sienna
